Meeting Description:

The Institute of Internal Auditors has noted that conducting audits of construction projects can provide positive results to your organization. This session will address the basics of performing a construction audit and identifying areas where an individual can bring added value to their organization. The objective of the presentation is to obtain an understanding of the different types of construction contracts and the associated risks. The red flags and the preventative measures that should be in place will be reviewed as well as identifying the different parties in a construction project and their responsibilities.
