

Please join with your colleagues for this webinar covering the 2012 OIG Work Plan presented by Scott McBride of Baker and Hostetler.

Session overview: The Office of Inspector General has published its 2012 Work Plan which identifies new and ongoing reviews and activities that the OIG plans to pursue over the next year and beyond. The OIG focuses on safeguarding the integrity of the Medicare and Medicaid programs as well as the health and welfare of the beneficiaries. Organizations can review their compliance activities in conjunction with the Work Plan and determine if there are any issues that they want to target before they become compliance concerns.

Learning Objectives:

- Understand what payment and billing areas are being targeted by the OIG
- Recognize areas of focus related to policy concerns
- Utilize the Work Plan to help reduce the risk of noncompliance

CPE credit: CPE credit will be available for participants attending the live session
