Mutual fund investment options disclosures

1Investing internationally involves risks not associated with investing solely in the United States, such as currency fluctuation, political risk, differences in accounting, and the limited availability of information.
2Asset allocation does not ensure a profit or protect against loss in a declining market.
3An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the FDIC or any other government agency. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in the fund.
4The target date is the approximate date when investors plan to retire or start withdrawing their money. Some target-date funds make no changes in asset allocations after the target date is reached; other target-date funds continue to make asset allocation changes following the target date (see prospectus for the fund’s allocation strategy). The principal value is not guaranteed at any time, including at the target date.
5The return of principal in bond portfolios is not guaranteed. Bond portfolios have the same interest rate, inflation, credit, prepayment, and market risks that are associated with the underlying bonds owned by the fund (or account).
6Funds that invest in small and/or mid-size company stocks typically involve greater risk, particularly in the short term, than those investing in larger, more established companies.
7High-yield portfolios may invest in high-yield or lower rated fixed-income securities (junk bonds), which may experience higher volatility and increased risk of nonpayment or default.
8Investing in emerging markets can be riskier than investing in well-established foreign markets. International investing involves special risks not found in domestic investing, including increased political, social, and economic instability.
9REITs involve risks such as refinancing, economic conditions in the real estate industry, changes in property values, dependency on real estate management, and other risks associated with a portfolio that concentrates its investments in one sector or geographic region.
10The return of principal in bond portfolios is not guaranteed. Bond portfolios have the same interest rate, inflation, credit, prepayment, and market risks that are associated with the underlying bonds owned by the fund (or account). Investing internationally involves risks not associated with investing solely in the United States, such as currency fluctuation, political risk, differences in accounting, and the limited availability of information. Funds that invest in small and/or mid-size company stocks typically involve greater risk, particularly in the short term, than those investing in larger, more established companies.
11This fund is operated as a fund of funds that invests primarily in one or more other funds rather than in individual securities. A fund of this nature may be more expensive than other investment options because it has additional levels of expenses. From time to time, the fund’s adviser may modify the asset allocation to the underlying funds and may add new funds. A fund’s actual allocation may vary from the target strategic allocation at any point in time. Additionally, the fund’s adviser may directly manage assets of the underlying funds for a variety of purposes.
12An index is unmanaged, and one cannot invest directly in an index.
13The Lincoln Stable Value Account is a fixed annuity contract issued by The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, Fort Wayne, IN 46802 on Form 28866-SV 01/01, 28866-SV20 05/04, 28866-SV90 05/04, AN 700 01/12, or AR 700 10/09. Guarantees for the Lincoln Stable Value Account are subject to the claims-paying ability of the issuer.
