Dear President Fenves,

We have completed our audit of National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Bylaws 10, 14, and 16 as part of our fiscal year 2019 Audit Plan. The objective of the audit was to determine whether The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) Intercollegiate Athletics (Athletics) has established effective controls for the tutor program to maintain compliance with relevant NCAA bylaws and departmental policies and procedures.

Overall, Athletics’ tutoring program has effective controls to support compliance with NCAA Bylaws 10, 14, and 16, and departmental policies and procedures. However, improvements are necessary regarding the retention of tutors’ signed disclosure forms.

Management has reviewed the report and provided their action plans and implementation dates. Please let me know if you have questions or comments regarding this audit.

Sincerely,

Sandy Jansen, CIA, CCSA, CRMA

Audit Results

Overall, Athletics’ tutoring program has effective controls to support compliance with NCAA Bylaws 10, 14, and 16, and departmental policies and procedures. However, improvements are necessary regarding the retention of tutors’ signed disclosure forms.

Athletics educates staff and student-athletes on NCAA rules and regulations related to academic integrity and eligibility. They share information through manuals that include NCAA and institutional policies applicable to the tutoring program, compliance presentations at the start of each semester, monthly meetings to discuss rules related to tutors, and required training modules. Additionally, the department requires participating student-athletes to sign (now electronically) a tutoring agreement.

Consistent responses from interviews with student-athletes, tutors, learning specialists, and academic coordinators indicated the following:

- Those involved with the tutoring program understand expectations for their positions and responsibilities related to NCAA rules.
- Individuals understand departmental policies.
- Staff and student-athletes know the reporting process when academic dishonesty indicators are present.
- No student-athletes interviewed requested a tutor to complete work on their behalf.
- No tutor has committed or been asked to commit an act of academic misconduct.
- No one observed a culture of pressuring tutors or student-athletes to commit acts that jeopardize academic integrity.

Observation #1 Retention of Disclosure Forms

Audit Issue Ranking: High

Athletics was unable to locate and provide signed disclosure forms for two (40%) of five selected tutors. Tutors must sign disclosure forms acknowledging their responsibilities related to NCAA compliance and departmental rules at the start of the fall and spring semesters. During the audit period, these forms were submitted electronically and stored on the Tutor Canvas page. The forms were inadvertently deleted during a redesign of this page for the transition to the next semester. In addition, there is no centralized document repository to store and retain these signed disclosure forms. Having no central location prevents authorized users from easily accessing these forms. Without effectively retaining the signed disclosure forms, Athletics may not be able to demonstrate that tutors are in compliance with NCAA and departmental rules to include: academic integrity, unethical conduct, and extra benefits.

Recommendation: Athletics should centrally manage and retain signed disclosure forms. Additionally, Athletics should track and reconcile signed forms with the list of tutors to ensure tutors’ education and compliance with applicable departmental and NCAA policies remains consistent.
Management’s Corrective Action Plan: In Spring 2020, Student Services will continue to collect hard copies of disclosure forms from all tutors. Receipt of these forms will be tracked on a spreadsheet. Forms will be scanned and stored digitally on a shared file in UTBox. The folder will be accessible to employees within Student Services, Human Resources, and Compliance. This process is currently underway.

Beginning Fall 2020, tutors will receive disclosure forms digitally upon appointment to a tutor position. Once the tutor completes the forms, the forms will automatically route to a digital employee file for storage and retention. Tutor employee files will be accessible to Student Services, Human Resources and Compliance. Missing disclosure forms will be identified via a daily, automated audit for immediate resolution and continuous monitoring for compliance.

Planned Implementation Date: September 1, 2020

Background

All student-athletes have access to learning services programs, and the goal is to develop independent learners by helping student-athletes understand themselves as students. The learning services team helps student-athletes develop and implement effective learning strategies, design individualized study plans, and master course-specific knowledge and skills.2

In recent years, several Division I universities have received NCAA sanctions as a direct result of violations of academic integrity within their tutoring programs. Athletics Student Services and Athletics Compliance work together to improve processes for the tutor program and follow nationally significant cases to ensure UT Austin has appropriate controls in place. In the 2018-2019 academic year, Athletics Student Services scheduled over 19,000 tutoring sessions in the two academic centers.

Scope, Objectives, and Methodology

The scope of this audit included NCAA legislation regarding Bylaws 10, 14, and 16, with an emphasis on tutoring services offered to student-athletes by Athletics during the 2018-2019 academic year. The audit objective was to determine whether Athletics has established effective controls for the tutor program to maintain compliance with relevant NCAA bylaws and departmental policies and procedures.

To achieve these objectives, Internal Audits:
- Reviewed the 2018 – 2019 NCAA Division I Manual and National Association for Athletics Compliance Reasonable Standards
- Identified the Athletics tutor program’s controls and procedures to support compliance with NCAA bylaws

• Surveyed ways Athletics mitigates risks associated with student-athlete tutoring sessions such as online courses and courses taken at other institutions
• Evaluated how concerns and problems are internally reported and addressed within the Athletics tutor program
• Reviewed and verified the completion of required training
• Interviewed a random sample of student-athletes from five different sports, tutors, academic coordinators, and learning specialists for indicators of academic dishonesty or unethical behavior

The governing policies used as the criteria for this audit are as follows:
• NCAA Bylaw 10: Ethical Conduct
• NCAA Bylaw 14.01.4: Purpose of the Academic Performance Program
• NCAA Bylaw 14.02.1: Academic Misconduct – Post Enrollment
• NCAA Bylaw 16.3.1.1: Academic Counseling/Support Services
• UT Austin Athletics 2018 – 2019 Tutor Handbook
